As the smoke clears away, the Democratic victory in New Hampshire is seen to re a sweeping one—a triumph that, after the requisite forms shall have been gone through with, will lack no element of completeness. Last year there was a majority of 3,800 against the Democrats in the popular vote; they have reduced that to some 600, and defeated an election of Governor. Last year the Republicans carried nine of the twelve Senatorial districts, and had a phrality in another; now they are defeated in eight of them. Last year they had about afty majority in the popular branch of the Legislature; now the Democrats have from ten to twelve majority. In a word, last year the Republicans had full control of every branch of the State Government; now the Democrats will have the like unlimited power. PLOWING FOR CORN. David Palmer, of Bucks county, says -In discussing the best time and way resort to theory and observation to some extent, as I never had any experience in Fall plowing for this crop. The advocates of fall plowing argue ger of their destroying the young corn than when plowing in the Spring. Mr. Meehan, in the Weekly Press, thus a marrow wood paddle. weather under ground uninjured. The moisture within them seems never to freeze, unless the pupa case is in some way injured. Of course the plow injures and thus destroys innumerable insects in fall plowing, but no more than it would in plowing in the spring. There is of course a chance for a flock of birds to work in a piece of land turned up in the fall. With this exception there is very little in the insect point of view worthy of consideration." Another argument in favor of fall plowing is that the action of the frost should be taken in selecting good shapexpands the soil, leaving it more loose ed. well ripened tubers for planting, and in a better condition than before. This is of more consequence than the That the soil does expand while freez- size of the potato. Cut large, fair poing is true. MILK FOR HENS.

We have generally laid very good sur ress in inducing our fowls to lay in winter, but an acquaintance has for three consecutive years beat us at that game. This season he has been doing it with our own fowls, that is, with pullets procured of us, showing that it is f: . m-yard repeatedly and made observations, and he is very frank in describing his method, and the result is, we His fowls roost in a tenn-to, which is

We mention these particular lars to show that we are not to look to warm quarters for an explanation of the prolifeness exhibited. We add that they do not lay on account of being batched extra early, but, on the contrary, they came off last May. They commenced laying in October and have been at it ever since, to the of various sorts, ground and unground, but never cooked, and plenty of untimes accessible. They have a pailful of skimmed milk every day, so that they can help themselves to all they want, no other drink being provided.
